

Editor's Comment:

Rejected

I read those five reviewers' comments, one editor's decision/comment, the original and revised manuscripts. I found that there exists mixture of both positive and negative comments from reviewers and the editor. The author did not use yellow or red color to highlight the changes in the paper, which makes me more difficult to find out how and what the author revised the paper.

Therefore, I request that the authors do the followings:

The author must use yellow or red color to highlight the changes and re-submit the revised manuscript with yellow or red color highlight changes.
